

Understanding Hyperpigmented Skin</h2>

Pigmentation development in the skin is influenced by of a number of internal and external factors, one of the most influential being UV radiation. This results in the over production of melanin in the skin as a defense mechanism.

◆

Treatment of Hyperpigmented Skin</h2>

Your Nimue skin care professional will start you on the basic hyperpigmented skin program which prescribes the treatment regime and products for this skin classification. This program is designed to further prevent excess melanin production by inhibiting the enzyme tyrosinase. Protection of the skin from harmful elements such as UV-radiation. Controlling and reducing damaged caused by free radicals. Helping maintain an environment, which promotes overall skin health.

◆

| | |
|--|----------------------|
|  | <td valign="bottom"> |
|--|----------------------|

What you can expect</h2>

- Increased uniformity of the complexion
- Improvement in existing hyperpigmentation
- Increased radiance and clarity
- Smoother softer skin
- Reduction in the appearance of new pigmentation

</td></tr></table>

◆

