

Understanding Problematic Skin

Problematic skin, also classified as acne affects people of all races and ethnic groups and sometimes persists well into adulthood. Problem skin conditions can be caused due to a varying number of factors, such as genetic inheritance from parents who also suffered from problem skin conditions, environmental pollution, stressful lifestyles and hormonal imbalances.

Treatment of Problematic Skin

Your Nimue skin care professional will start you on the basic Problematic skin program which prescribes the treatment regime and products for this skin classification. This program is designed to reduce the build up of excess oil and dead skin cells, normalizing the function of cell renewal, helping reduce inflammation and prevents bacteria formation deep within the hair follicle and pores.

	<h2>What you can expect</h2> <ul style="list-style-type: none">Helps control the development of problem causing bacteriaReduction in excessive oilinessImproved skin clarityDecreased redness, irritation and inflammationImprovement in overall skin healthHelps in the prevention and formation of acne scarring
--	---

◆